

Solid Perfume Stocking Stuffers Recipe

These perfumes make the perfect stocking stuffer and a great addition to your craft market offerings!

These little perfumes are a snap to make and a great way to experiment with essential oil blends. You can either use one of the blends suggested below, or formulate your own concoction. Check out our essential oil guide for more ideas and inspiration!

These solid perfumes are made using clear, deodorized jojoba oil and white beeswax pastilles. Jojoba is a light, non-greasy oil that has a very long shelf-life, making it perfect for a perfume. Our white beeswax pastilles are deodorized, so they won't interfere with your fragrance. You can substitute Natural Golden Beeswax Pastilles, if you like, giving your perfumes a faint honey aroma.

Whatever your choice for scenting your perfumes, the recipient of this thoughtful gift is sure to be happy. Nothing says Happy Holidays like a homemade gift for those you love.

DIRECTIONS

Before starting this tutorial please make sure to read all instructions. Use caution when handling melted oils. Spray work surface, utensils and ramekin with 70% isopropanol and wipe with paper towels.

Place the beeswax and jojoba oil in a small microwaveable bowl. Microwave for 60 seconds, stirring every 20 seconds, or until fully melted. Stir in the essential oils.

Use a pipette to carefully fill the tins with the solid perfume.

Place in the freezer for 10 minutes to set. Screw on the lids on and enjoy!
